Analyzes Liberian history to show how ethnic bigotry caused a toxic political, social, and cultural crisis that culminated in its civil wars from 1989 to 2003. Dolo's discussion of theoretical models with practical methods for bridging ethnic difference makes it an engaging, worthwhile read for all.

Emmanuel T. Dolo earned his PhD from the University of Minnesota. A specialist in intercultural communications and an organizational consultant focusing on immigrant and refugee mental health, he is director of Educational Equity and Integration at South Washington County Schools in Cottage Grove, MN and president and CEO of Lifeworks International Consulting Group.
